

Olivia Flynn

Founder · Hawkes Bay Bird and Wildlife Rescue Trust

Kia ora, my name is Olivia Flynn. However, I am widely known in the Hawkes Bay as Liv, the bird lady. I founded Hawkes Bay Bird and Wildlife Rescue Trust with a solid and passionate group of volunteers in 2018.

Our mission has been to rescue injured and sick wildlife species in our local community.

Over time, I have grown my knowledge through working with like-minded people: local veterinarians, animal welfare agencies and community groups. My passion to rescue and save sick and injured wildlife has been well informed through regular PLD, workshops and hands-on opportunities to work alongside a variety of community initiatives that align with HBBWR standards.

Hawkes Bay is my forever home. I love living by the sea, our rural community is heartwarming, and our wildlife species deserve the very best care and attention we can provide, now and for the future.
